David groaned as he glanced down. Several metres below him, the water-swept floor of the cavern glistened in the dark. If he slipped, he would plummet headfirst onto the unforgiving rock. David felt himself slipping and tried to brace himself, as searing pain spread through his left shoulder. Things were looking up for David—his family was back together, he had great friends and a new, beautiful girl was on the scene. But all of that was about to change. At home, school and in the wilds of a deep canyon, David comes face-to-face with life's biggest challenges and quickly learns that real success and happiness don't always come easy. David's Triumph is a story of love, loss, making decisions and finding the strength to carry on.

This is not another bushfire story, though that is the setting. This is a story about how a local church and community responded in the face of crisis, and it asks the question, are there still fires burning today? What trauma and pain in our society is right on our doorstep, and can the church and community still respond, as it did back in 2009?

NAME COVENANT: INVITATION TO FRIENDSHIP

STRATEGIES FOR THE THRESHOLD #3

ISBN: 978-1925380132

Author: Anne Hamilton (QLD)

Available From: 1 December 2018

Publisher: Armour Books

Audience: General

Genre: Devotional Theology, Nonfiction

RRP: $21.99

DESCRIPTION: Abram became Abraham. Jacob became Israel. Simon became Peter. Name covenanting seems at first like an archaic, long-discarded practice that disappeared in the first century around the time Saul became Paul. The patriarchs and apostles exchanged names and so received new destinies. But that was then. And this is now. However name covenanting never went away. Robert Louis Stevenson became Teriitera. Paul Gauguin became Tioka. James Cook became Terreoboo. Arthur Phillip became Woollarawarre. These recent examples throw light on this ancient practice of friendship and kinship. They show us that, when God offers a new name, more than simply a new calling is attached. It's an invitation to friendship with Him. This is the third book in the ground-breaking Strategies for the Threshold series. It features the second of the five covenants highlighted through Scripture. Previous volumes include Dealing with Python: Spirit of Constriction as well as Dealing with Ziz: Spirit of Forgetting.
